Heritage – People – Landscape

We wanted our ethos “Heritage – People – Landscape” to be reflected in our wine selection. With the help of l’Art du Vin Wine Merchants, we have put together a focused and very personal list which includes wines made by independent, artisan producers from around the world. This list evolves according to seasons and we have included some little gems which are personal favourites.

Champagne and Sparkling Wines

The majority of the grapes used for vinification come from a radius of 20km around Epernay, where the Grand Crus of Pinot Noir, Pinot Meunier and Chardonnay co-exist, in the ethereal vineyards of the Montagne de Reims, the Vallée de la Marne and the Côte des Blancs.

The Billecart-Salmon Brut Réserve NV is a blend of 40% Pinot Meunier, 30% Chardonnay and 30% Pinot Noir. The most recent bottling contains around 40% of fruit from the 2015 harvest with the remainder topped up with reserve wines. The result is a light and delicately fruit-filled cuvée with aromatic and spicy notes from the Pinot Meunier. Further aromas include redcurrant, chalky notes and hints of ripe pears. The palate is round, elegant and finessed, leading to an intense, persistent, well-structured and saline finish.

DOMAINE JONATHAN ET DIDIER PABIOT

When we first visited Domaine Pabiot in the small village of Les Loges in the Pouilly- Fumé appellation, it was being run by Didier. We were impressed by his wines but, as he went to leave, Didier asked us to taste one final cuvée. He had given his son, Jonathan, 2 hectares of land to experiment with and this was his first vintage.

“I know what you are going to say”, Didier piped up... “His wines are better than mine aren’t they? You wouldn’t be the first person to tell me that.” We meekly nodded our heads in agreement. Jonathan’s wines certainly showed lots of promise. Soon after, Didier handed over control of the Domaine to his son and, in a role reversal, now works under his guidance – a rare occurrence in the traditional world of French winemaking.

One of our youngest producers, Jonathan’s wines are organically certified and he employs many biodynamic principles in an effort to ensure that his wine gives a true representation of the magical terroirs of Pouilly-Fumé. Consistently voted among the best winemakers in France, he is being touted as the successor to French winemaking superstar Didier Dagueneau – high praise indeed!

Judith Beck

Winery Judith Beck is in Gols in Burgenland. They are a 15 hectare estate and have been working using biodynamics since 2007. The philosophy is one born of attention to detail and respect for the environment and their native grapes and soil. Judith Beck herself studied abroad at places like Cos d'Estournel in Bordeaux and Errazuriz in Chile but returned home to take over from her father and take the winery forward embracing the new wave of natural wine making.

BLANKbottle

Describe BLANKbottle in one sentence: Clothes maketh not the man; judge my wines on what's in the bottle, not the varietal on the label.

In 2004, a lady came to my house (then also my office) to buy wine. She asked for anything but Shiraz. "I don't drink Shiraz", were her exact words. I poured her a glass of wine. She loved it and bought 3 cases. It was a straight Shiraz. It's a fact - we do judge the book by its cover.

When I started BLANKbottle, my goal was to create an honest wine brand that had no limitations when it came to style, vintage, area or cultivars in order to break down any preconceived expectations. Having no indication of cultivar on the bottle makes this possible. Not only does it demand complete honesty when it comes to quality, but it allows me the opportunity to introduce once-off limited runs of interesting wines. Its flexibility turned out to be BLANKbottle's edge. Something for someone with an open mind and an adventurous heart

CLOS CANTENAC

Covering 6 hectares of St. Emilion Grand Cru vineyards, Clos Cantenac benefits from an enviable terroir of deep gravel, sand and clay over limestone soils. Martin Krajewski (owner of Chateau de Sours), who purchased the vineyard in 2007, has found the perfect balance between experimenting with this intriguing variation in soil structures, while simultaneously respecting the history of the land. Martin and his team produce wines which do full justice to this prized terroir, highlighting why St. Emilion is one of the most desirable winemaking locations in the world.

Tenuta Carretta

1985, the Miroglio family purchased the Tenuta Carretta estate in the district of Roero and set about restoring it to its former glory. Records of land cultivation on this estate date back to the 12th century, while written documentation confirms that vines were present on the hills surrounding the area in 1594.

The Miroglio family were inspired by the staggering natural beauty of the region and were keen to return the land to its original use, producing wines of exceptional quality. The family have sought to respect local winemaking traditions, but also have maintained a focus on progressive techniques and new market requirements. Their methods have undoubtedly led to a successful outcome, as Tenuta Carretta is now considered one of the most prestigious wineries in the Roero and Langhe regions.

Els Jelipins

The Spanish estate of Els Jelipins was born from the desire to create a viticultural family project that would allow Glòria and her daughter Berta to live in the hills of Font Rubi near Barcelona, enjoying a life of moderation in which they could find personal enrichment in tandem with the forces of mother nature and appreciation of the simpler things in life. In 2001, this former engineer looked for the best plots of vineyards around Font Rubi, with special characteristics of soil, vine and climate. She found them in Penedès Superior. Glòria selects the grapes from various hillside vineyards cultivated without a single chemical or any other aggressive activity that disrupt nature's natural flow. She carefully works each vineyard separately, adjusting to its individual needs and potential. She's in favour of achieving a fruit that can mature naturally and healthily without becoming trapped by a particular dogma or strict regime. Since 2003, Glòria has been making this now iconic wine with a production of barely 2,000 bottles. She mainly uses a very old indigenous red grape variety called Sumoll, which almost totally disappeared from Spain, but she also puts some Garnacha (equivalent to Grenache) in the wine. If you try to ask Glòria about the name Els Jelipins, she will tell you that it's a name without meaning but a name with feeling that is magical and strong.

DE MARTINO

Originally established by Italian winemaker Pietro De Martino Pascualone in 1934, De Martino is one of the most forward-thinking estates in all of South America.

Located in Isla de Maipo, a small town around 50 kilometres from the Chilean capital of Santiago, the estate is entirely organic and also uses production methods that render their wines completely carbon-neutral.

The estate is located in a prime viticultural position, on the banks of the now arid Maipo River. The fact the valley previously accommodated the ferocious torrents of the Maipo gives soil conditions which are unique in the region, alluvial earth with high silt levels - great for the cultivation of vines.

Today, proceedings are controlled by the third and fourth generations of the De Martino family who continue to strive to improve the quality of their produce as well as leave as little impact on nature as possible.

In 1981 Susana received her degree in enology, and became the first woman in Argentina to do so. Her career started in Cafayate, Salta province at Michel Torino winery. After that she worked at many well-regarded wineries in Argentina. In 1999, Susana Balbo Wines was born, marking the achievement of Susana's lifelong dream to have her own winery and to create her own wines. Probably my personal favourite of her wines that we sell is the Signature Cabernet Sauvignon, given 97 points in Decanter, and in the most exciting wines of 2017.

Founded by former dairy farmer John Williams in 1981, Frogs Leap is an estate which has adopted organic principles and utilises traditional techniques in their production process. John's love affair with wine started during a work study program at Taylors Wine Company, after which he decided to discard his past trade and attempt to re-establish himself in the world of viticulture. On their 40 acre, organically farmed vineyard.

CHÂTEAU FILHOT

Romain de Filhot founded the Château, which took his name in 1709 and to this day. The estate produces some of the world's finest botrytised sweet wines. Now owned by one of his descendants, Henri de Vaucelles. Château Filhot is bordered by the Landes forest and the river Ciron. The perfect combination for the creation of a microclimate, which encourages the development of Noble Rot.

The Semillon/Sauvignon Blanc blend displays the typical Sauternes features – a classic sweet wine produced by a very skillful winemaking team.

Port

Ramos Pinto

Founded in 1880 by brothers Adriano and Antonio, this Port house has always had a pioneering spirit. In the early 20th century it became noted for its innovative and enterprising commercial strategies including the distinctive art nouveau advertising campaign. Ramos Pinto is run today by the heirs of these two energetic vintners: Jorge Rosas, Export Director and João Nicolau de Almeida, the enologist who was responsible for officially identifying the five key grape varieties (out of over 70 originally grown) that are best suited to wine production in the Douro region. His findings have been adopted by the authorities for all new plantings. In addition he introduced and developed vertical vine planting techniques in the region and has advanced Port and wine vinification by building two of the most modern wineries in the whole Douro region (at Quinta do Bom Retiro and Quinta dos Bons Ares).

All situated in the areas of the Cima-Corgo and the Douro Superior, the four quintas or estates that make up Ramos

Pinto's holdings are: Quinta do Bom Retiro: in Pinhão, planted exclusively with red varieties. Quinta da Urtiga: adjacent to Bom Retiro. Quinta da Ervamoira: in the far upper Douro, by the Côa river near the Spanish border.

Here the grapes grow in dry semi-desert conditions. Quinta dos Bons Ares: a cooler site with some of the highest vineyards in the Douro. Both red and white varieties ripen here with great natural acidity and fresh flavours. The award-winning ten- and twenty year-old Tawnies are produced at Quinta da Ervamoira and Bom Retiro respectively.
